Safety First

OUR COMMITMENT TO GAS SYSTEM SAFETY

Ever pass a yellow pole and wonder what it's for? Utilities, like Unitil, mark their gas pipelines with yellow poles labeled with important safety information. Measures like this help keep gas systems safe and reliable.

Unitil is always working behind the scenes to make sure the natural gas system is secure and reliable. Our Integrity Management Program has Unitil staff monitoring its gas system 24/7 to ensure any hazards, such as gas leaks, blowing gas, line rupture, fire, explosion, possible asphyxiation, or sabotage, are dealt with quickly and safely.

Regular upgrades to infrastructure and technology also improve delivery. Working closely with emergency responders, Unitil conducts drills and trainings on emergency response procedures. All these proactive measures and more keep the gas pipeline system safe and running efficiently. Because safety puts people first, and when you know your natural gas systems are safe and reliable, you can enjoy life.
